Manual Test Cases – Client Perspective

Benedict Yeang

- Can homepage be accessed through all information web pages
    - o All web pages from which a home button would be wanted
- All pages contain the same format
    - o Yes
- Login is accessible from all pages
    - o All relevant pages
- Logout is accessible from all pages
    - o All relevant pages

Action	Expected Result	Actual Result
Logout	Return to non-specific homepage	Return to non-specific homepage
Login	Return to personalised homepage	Return to personalised homepage
Category Selection	Brought to correct category page with all pages within the category correctly displayed	Brought to correct category page with all pages within the category correctly displayed
Registration	Account created, returned to homepage	Account created, returned to homepage
Access personalised homepage	Correct personalised categories are displayed	Correct personalised categories are displayed
Search function	Returns results related to entered search term	Returns results related to entered search term or category
Feedback given	Feedback stored and user returned to homepage	Feedback stored and user sent to confirmation page before being returned to homepage
Admin account creation	Created admin accounts can be logged in to and can access all functions of original admin account	Created admin accounts can be logged in to and can access all functions of original admin account
Admin page modification	Admin can change pages contents and create new pages	Admin can change pages contents and create new pages
Logout then login	Able to log out of one user then log in as another user	Able to log out of one user then log in as another user
Logout then login as same user	Able to logout as a user and then log in again without encountering any errors (session errors, etc.)	Able to logout as a user and then log in again without encountering any errors (session errors, etc.)
Logout then login between admin and normal user	Able to logout from normal user then login as admin and vice versa	Able to logout from normal user then login as admin and vice versa